Antioch Man Saves Driver of Burning Truck

Fred Techert Rescues Gages Lake Man as Vehicle Rolls Over, Burns

Fred Techert of Antioch is credited with saving the life of Chris Madsen, Gages Lake, when the trailer-truck in which they were riding rolled over and caught fire as Madsen, who was driving, averted the vehicle to avoid striking a car that pulled out in front of them at the intersection of Highways 45 and 83 Friday noon at 12:15 o'clock.

Madsen and Techert were taking a Behm company (Graylake) tractor-and-trailer truck loaded with 437 cases of milk from Diamond Lake to Chicago when the accident occurred.

As they came down the grade toward the intersection with Highway 45, for which the signs gave them the right-of-way, they noticed a car approaching from the south and another from the north.

Car Edges Into Crossing
When they were within 200 feet of the intersection, Madsen estimates, the car coming from the south began to edge into the crossing.

"At first I thought he was just a 'creeper,'" Madsen recalls, "but he kept on pulling out after I had sounded the horn. I put on the brakes and started to avert to try to avoid hitting him. Meanwhile the driver of the car suddenly seemed to realize what was happening and tried to get across the highway before the truck struck the auto."

The swerving of the truck, coupled with the sudden action of the brakes on both trailer and tractor, and the momentum and weight of the load, sent the heavy vehicle over on its side.

The trailer and cab slid about 25 feet on the concrete after overturning, Madsen estimates, after checking marks on the pavement on a visit to the scene Saturday.

Gasoline Catches Fire
The cap on the gasoline tank under the seat in the cab was knocked off and the truck caught fire immediately after it toppled over.

Warned by Madsen's shout of "Fire!" Techert was able to scramble through the window on his side of the cab, and slide to the ground.

When he saw that Madsen was not following him, but instead was calling for help, he managed to scramble back despite an injured arm and shoulder, to free Madsen from the seat cushion and steering gear that wedged him down and pull him from the cab.

Madsen is not a light man, in the matter of weight, and Techert, who is slight, still marvels that he was able to get him out.

August F. Krumrey of Libertyville, a Public Service employee, who stopped and ran over with a fire extinguisher which he brought to bear on the flames that were licking up into the cab was given credit by both Madsen and Techert for helping to make the rescue possible.

Truck Almost Total Loss
The driver of the automobile that was crossing the intersection when the accident occurred and his woman companion had been halted by Techert from leaving the scene.

They remained in their car until after Madsen had been taken from the truck, when they approached with offers of assistance.

Despite the efforts of fire companies summoned by Madsen, the truck was so badly damaged by the fire as to be an almost total loss.

Techert is under medical care for his injured arm and shoulder, and for bruises.

Madsen, who is married and the father of a five-year-old daughter, suffered a wrenched ankle, skin abrasions and a badly bruised arm.

Fire companies that answered the call included those of Mundelein, Vernon, Libertyville and Diamond Lake.

Mrs. Fred Maier Is Injured in Accident

Mrs. Fred R. Maier, Lake Villa, suffered a fractured nose when the car in which she and her husband were riding struck a cow belonging to William Grunewald, Highway 59, Thursday evening, a short distance north of the Grand avenue intersection. The cow, a valuable Hereford, was killed and the Maier car was badly damaged.

Burt Anderson returned home on Sunday from a 10-day fishing trip to Vermilion Bay, Ontario, Canada, on which he was accompanied by LeRoy Blair, Chicago. They reported a fine catch of "muskie," walleyed and northern pike.

Firemen Honor Former Chief Stearns' Birthday

Stearns served as chief of the local department for about 14 years, resigning two years ago to accept the state appointment.

VICTORY PARADE By COLLIER

Shortage of Farm Help Will Continue, Warning

The farm labor situation may get worse before it gets better. This is the warning contained in a bulletin from the office of Prof. P. E. Johnston, farm labor director for Illinois, who warns farmers to endeavor to keep their hired men.

The Lake county farm labor office concurs in this opinion, advising, "renew your contract with your hired man now, even though your present contract does not expire for three months."

"If it is possible for you to fix up living quarters for a married man, do so. Chances of obtaining a married man are much better than for single men. Co-operate with your neighbors in exchanging labor and machinery."

"Our farm labor office will help you in any way possible. If your hired man quits or you feel that you can afford to let him go, advise him to call by phone or at the farm labor office before accepting another job."

Victory Fleet Day, 1944

"These Victory ships are well-named!" This statement, made by a movie land merchant mariner, about to go to sea again after being torpedoed, contains much more fact than fiction. Liberty ships of the United States Merchant Marine have been the backbone of our overseas supply line. They and their sister ships have delivered the men and the materiel which are making liberty a reality around the globe. The first Liberty ship, the S. S. Patrick Henry, was the best-named of them all. It was altogether proper that the first of the Liberties should honor the famous "Liberty or death" declaration. It is the launching of the Patrick Henry on September 27, 1941, that the nation commemorates in the annual celebration of Victory Fleet Day on Wednesday of this week. On this date, the nation pays tribute to the 3,400 ships of the Victory Fleet, the ship-builders who are producing a merchant marine second to none, and the 165,000 officers and seamen who keep 'em sailin' with the vital materials of war. Their combined efforts are successfully carrying on the monumental job of delivering the goods across the seven seas to our forces liberating in Germany, Burma and the Philippines. With every propeller turn of the Liberties, the new Victory ships, the tankers, and the combination passenger-cargo vessels, our mighty Victory Fleet helps bring the day of Victory nearer.

Food DOES Help to Win the War!

One of the many news, public relations, propaganda and publicity services that flood this office with an avalanche of typed, printed and mimeographed matter has furnished us with a suggested editorial that mentions, among other things, that "if food prices have increased higher proportionately than other prices, it is simply because farm labor has increased more proportionately than in other industries." We're pretty distrustful of generalities ourself. Our own private opinion is that while a person can get along pretty well without buying any more new clothes than are needed for health or decency, they still have to buy three new meals every day.

As we now have to share our food supply with more people than we used to under pre-war conditions, the demand for this commodity has risen above normal.

The siphoning-off of farm labor into the armed services and into industry, coupled with restrictions on the purchase of farm machinery, has presented a real challenge to the farmers of America to increase food production in the face of obstacles.

Transportation, marketing and merchandising difficulties directly or indirectly attributable to war conditions have also helped to boost food costs.

Oddly enough, rationing, too, has played a part. Since people have tended in many cases to buy unrationed foods, the prices of which were not held down by "ceilings," and were increased as the demand for them increased. The rise in price of unrationed foods has helped to boost the overall average price of food in general.

At the same time, the valiant efforts of the farmers to increase production in the face of difficulties; the work of every Victory gardener in raising additional foodstuffs, and of every housewife who has helped cut down the demand for canned goods by doing home canning—all these have helped to keep the cost of foodstuffs below what it would be without these extra efforts. At the same time, they have helped to insure a greater supply of wholesome, nutritious food for this nation and for our allies, as well as for the recently freed territories.

Every pound of food produced or saved might be considered, in a sense, that much of a contribution toward winning the war.

Timber Loss

Insects, disease and decay cost us an annual toll of $110,000,000, much of this loss being in old, overripe timber which should have been harvested long ago. Estimated destruction in an average year laid to these causes—over 1,000,000,000 cubic feet of wood.

Controls Insects

Fumigation is a safe, effective and inexpensive method of controlling grain insects. A thousand bushels can be effectively rid of insects at a cost of about five dollars without hazard to grain, buildings or operator.

Indian Skeletons May Reveal Weird Tale of the Past

Bones of 8,000 Aborigines Gathered From Valley of Tennessee River.

KNOXVILLE, TENN. — Eight thousand Indian skeletons collected from the Tennessee river valley in eight years of research some day may tell a weird story to Americans as well as to anthropology students all over the world.

Part of a collection estimated to be the largest documented one of its kind in the country, the skeletons are stored in an old brick building in Knoxville, Tenn., while the scientists who could make the dead men talk are busy with other things.

Only two workers, T. M. N. Lewis, associate professor of anthropology at the University of Tennessee who headed the collection work and Miss Madeline Kneberg, also a member of the anthropology department, devote part time to classification of the skeletons and relics, some of which date back to 300 A. D.

The value of the collection—perhaps the best existing archeological record of the American Indian—lies in its documentation, says Dr. Lewis, a tall, gray-haired Princeton graduate whose explorations have taken him to many parts of the United States as well as overseas.

"Some day when it is possible for us to have a museum to house the collection we will be able to reconstruct Indian villages almost as they were originally, so our material will have an interest and an educational value beyond that of relics displayed in cases," he says.

Even Costume Jewelry.
The collection contains countless pieces of costume jewelry, weapons, cooking utensils, pottery and images, including the finest piece of stone sculpture, unearthed near Lebanon, Tenn., ever found in North America.

The latter, a kneeling warrior with a female companion piece, belonged to a 15th century people, and may have represented the founder of the tribe, Dr. Lewis believes.

"We have complete data on every piece of the collection as well as on every site excavated, including photographs, maps and plans, and thus everything has meaning," said Dr. Lewis. "Since the area explored was a strategic one from the standpoint of American history, we hope to supply some very important missing links. Up until 1935 almost nothing was known of the prehistoric peoples in the Southeast, but now we have the key to the secret if we ever have time to unlock it."

Opening chapters of the story indicate that the early Indians of the Southwest, although they lived in scattered, isolated tribes, represented an amalgamation of races.

"Even in prehistoric times," Dr. Lewis said, "America was the melting pot of the world."

Many Historic Groups.
Evidence shows a mongoloid strain predominant among the three major prehistoric groups of the region, the archaic, the woodland and the Mississippian peoples. Caucasoid and negroid strains also were present.

The earliest of the groups, the archaic, entered the territory about 300 or 400 A. D., probably from eastern Asia. Their successors, the woodland peoples, came from the north, possibly from the Great Lakes region, around 1100 or 1200 A. D.

The most progressive of the prehistoric peoples, Dr. Lewis related, arrived about 600 years ago in a great migration from Mexico, the movement continuing several generations and extending over all the southwest and the Mississippi valley.

The Hiwassee island site in east Tennessee which yielded evidence of four distinct peoples, served as the Rosetta stone to the other sites. The story of the island was that of the age-old struggle for "Lebanon," said Dr. Lewis, relating how a prehistoric tribe which he calls the Hamilton was overrun by the Hiwassee people, who later yielded to the Dallas tribe, which the scientist believes was the prehistoric ancestors of the Creeks.

Many plans have been suggested for supplying the village of Antioch with fire protection. The most feasible one yet spoken of, to our mind, is the proposition to sink a well of sufficient capacity on or near the Charles Horton corner, Lake avenue, erect a large tank, pipe the water down town, placing hydrants at each street corner. This would give us ample fire protection and do away

About 3 o'clock a. m. on last Thursday, the boot and shoe store of Ben Stone was discovered to be on fire and an alarm given. Considerable of the household goods and effects of Mr. and Mrs. Stone were saved and a small amount of merchandise, but by far the greater portion of the stock, estimated between $6,000 and $7,000, was consumed in the flames. The fire started in a small building adjoining, which was owned by M. N. French, and was also destroyed.

NEED FOR MORE WACS FOR MEDIC DUTY

As more and more wounded men are being returned from the world's fighting fronts to the Army General hospitals in this country, there is a rapidly growing need for American women to enlist in the Women's Army corps for assignment to duty as medical and surgical technicians. It is announced at headquarters of the Sixth Service command.

Some of the vacancies currently existing in the hospitals call for women with previous technical experience. However, there have been established training schools at which women with special aptitudes are given short, intensive training courses, thus fitting them for the important work to be done.

General admission qualifications do not differ materially from those imposed for regular WAC enlistment. Women must be between the ages of 20 and 50; they must be in good health; they must have had at least two years of high school education; and a satisfactory aptitude rating must be established at the time of enlistment. Enlistees for any of the medical and surgical technicians assignments must undertake six weeks of basic WAC training before they are assigned to hospital duties or to advanced schools.

The Observer

A sort of small scale crime wave seems to have hit, descended, sprang up or whatever you over the state line in Kenosha county.

Altonet, the practically new power lawn mower up at Liberty Corners cemetery—a mere toy weighing around 600 lbs. or so—has disappeared and is feared to have been swiped; someone, or several someones, made an unsuccessful attempt to burn down a schoolhouse; Hank and Irma's place in the village of Salem was broke into and a quantity of silver money took—and to top the climax, as the saying goes, a batch of young 'uns rifled the melon patch at the Lee La Meer place east of Salem and brought their loot into the village, where they calmly sat down and ate it.

Then Ira Moran drove past the cemetery where the lawn mower disappeared was being investigated just once too often, and an alert sheriff took note of the license number, checked on same, and learned that the truck was theoretically supposed to be 'way up in Dodge county, Wis.

Well, anyway, folks, life sure is dull in these quiet little rural places, ain't it?

A/C ALLEN D. BLAKEMAN TRAINS AT "COUNTRY CLUB"

A/C Allen D. Blakeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Blakeman of Antioch is receiving primary training in elementary and aerobatic flying at Lodwick Aviation Military Academy, Avon Park, Fla. The school, 2151st AAF base unit, operates under the Army Air Forces Eastern Flying Training command, Maxwell field, Ala., and is popularly referred to as "The Country Club of the Air," due to the fact that a former large resort hotel was taken over to house the army staff and cadets.

Cadet Blakeman was graduated from Morgan Park High school in Chicago in 1942, and later attended Beloit college, Beloit Wis.

He was appointed to cadet training at Gulfport, Miss., and upon completion of his C.T.D. training in Amherst, Mass., he was transferred to his present station.

On Nov. 22, 1941, he was united in marriage with Miss Elizabeth Maier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al B. Maier of Lake Villa, and a few days later was inducted into the army at Camp Grant. He was later transferred to Camp Croft, and to various other training centers. In January, 1944, he was sent to England, and was one of the first to enter France on D-day.

Besides his wife, he is survived by their infant daughter, Betty Idaleo.

Pvt. Leslie Hanke has been wounded in action in France and is now convalescing in a hospital in England, according to a letter which his mother, Mrs. Nellie Hanke, has received from him.

The letter, confirmed by a telegram from the War department in Washington, D. C., explains—

"The reason you haven't heard from me is that I have had a little hard luck and am in a hospital in England with my leg in a cast. I'm getting good treatment here, and I know I will be good as new before long."

Pvt. Hanke entered the army Oct. 11, 1943. He was inducted at Camp Grant and received training at Camp Barkeley, Texas, going overseas the first part of May this year as a member of the medical corps attached to a fighting unit. Members of his family have been informed that he participated in several major engagements with the enemy.

Prior to entering the service, he was employed at the Nash Kelvinator plant in Kenosha, and before that, at the Antioch Packing company. He is a graduate of Antioch Township High school, where he was active in athletics.

Only last week his mother received from him a box containing articles from overseas.

Blimp Makes Air History in Rescue

Lands in Desert to Pick Up Navy Flier.

SAN DIEGO, CALIF.—In an unprecedented mercy rescue, a navy blimp landed in the treacherous sand hills of the Imperial Valley desert, 20 miles northwest of Yuma, Ariz., to pick up a navy flier who had parachuted from his plane.

Despite the attempt, the pilot, whose name was withheld, was dead when reached by the rescue party. The landing and rescue was accomplished despite hazardous weather conditions, dangerous terrain and a ground crew far below the usually required minimum, the navy said in reporting the feat. The blimp was piloted by Lieut. Peter I. Culbertson of Minneapolis.

After search planes had located the airman's parachute covered form in the desert, Ensign Robert B. Porter of Los Angeles was flown to the scene from the Holtville, Calif., air station and parachuted to the desert floor to render emergency aid.

Reaching the area, the blimp swooped to within 20 feet of the ground, stopped, and two crew members—Ensign Herman Callahan of Alhambra, Calif., and First Rigger Leonard Craig of Pico, Calif.—to aid Ensign Porter in landing the craft.

Despite strong wind, the blimp was landed safely by the three men—one-third of the normal ground crew—and the body of the pilot was placed aboard. Also taken aboard were Porter, Callahan and Craig and two members of a land rescue party.

The blimp, part of the navy's air-sea rescue agency, went to the rescue from its base at Santa Ana, Calif.

Sharks Drag Exhausted Men From Raft at Sea

SAN FRANCISCO.—Schools of sharks, attracted by blood, attacked exhausted soldier survivors of the torpedoed War Shipping Administration troop transport Cape San Juan in the South Pacific and dragged them, screaming, into the water from overloaded life rafts, eyewitnesses reported.

Crew members of the S. S. Edwin T. Meredith told their story of the Armistice day tragedy, which had been reported previously.

The Cape San Juan was sunk by a Japanese submarine. There were 1,429 men aboard. A naval air transport seaplane rescued 48. The Meredith and a destroyer completed the rescue.

"Survivors of the Cape San Juan were sitting on the submerged rafts waist deep in the water," a member of the Meredith's crew said. "Their eyes were blinded by oil, and they were so exhausted they could scarcely sit up. That made them easy prey for the sharks."

"Time after time I heard soldiers scream as the sharks swept them off the rafts. Sometimes the sharks attacked survivors who were being hauled to the Meredith with life ropes."

Divorce Mill Goss
Into High Speed

Record of Two and One-Half Minutes a Case Set.

KANSAS CITY, MO.—A record of 2½ minutes a divorce was set recently in a session of court here, where marriage ties of from one week to 13 years were ended at the rate of four every 10 minutes.

With a complainant, lawyer and two witnesses coming and going every 2½ minutes, the courtroom crowd pulsed into the hall with each swing of the door.

About 90 per cent of the complainants were women, and three-fourths of these were under 30 years old. There were very few dramatic charges—mostly indignities—jealousy, embarrassment and mental cruelty.

In the rather petty offenses indicated by the legal phrases, the complainants in less than two minutes of testimony revealed here and there, the personal indignation worked up in the fast pace of wartime, and the economic opportunity to "take nothing off of nobody."

The first four cases were heard in 10 minutes and the first 32 sustained the pace in one hour and 22 minutes. Virtually all were default cases. The women mostly were well dressed and two-thirds wore their wedding rings. The other third retained only engagement rings. Most of the complainants asked the restoration of their maiden names.

By the noon recess 44 divorces had been granted in one hour and 50 minutes. Sixteen cases on the docket also had failed to respond when called.

When's the next time you'll be broke?

Hard to say, isn't it?

In fact, you haven't given it much thought. Things are going well now. The job pays fine, and it looks as if it will last forever.

But suppose it doesn't? Suppose, in the years after the war, you find things slowing up. What then?

Sure... maybe a good man can always get a job. But isn't it a great thing to have a nice soft cushion to fall back on if and when things don't go right?

And right now, if you're in the Payroll Plan and tucking money away regularly, week after week, you're fashioning the best kind of cushion you can possibly have, a big wad of money invested in War Bonds.

Here's why:

War Bonds are the safest investment in the world.

War Bonds give you $4 back ten years from now for every $3 you invest.

War Bonds are your stake in the good things of tomorrow—security, independence, travel, a decent old age.

And today, War Bonds give you a chance to put your money into the fight—the best reason of all!

Think that over. And when you get your check... chuck a good portion of it into Bonds... even though you're buying them already. Buy War Bonds—and hang onto them.

New Modes Reviving Victorian Themes

Jewelry, Fabrics and Shoes Assume Quiet Richness.

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

It looks as if the fall theme song would be Victorian, and this means that we will feel the urge to draw on grandmother's jewelry case for authentic gold pendant earrings and chatelaines, lockets which are the real thing, being beautifully and painstakingly fashioned, suspended from old English double link chains.

If you happen to possess an heirloom set of bracelets, earrings and necklace, this is the time to get it out, for there's a quiet air of elegance permeating the entire scheme of fashion this season. Here's hoping that they will be set with amethysts, topaz, and garnets as these were favorite gems in Victorian days.

Grandmother's pearl dog-collar is quite the thing even for the younger set this season. Coral was another Victorian favorite. Nor must the locket and bangle be forgotten because they are highlights borrowed from the Victorian era.

High fashion wools are selling in new this season Victorian colors. The big news is that exquisitely lovely heather tones will be revived in fabrics, especially the gorgeous new wools for fall suits and coats. The new blues are soft water tones and Parma blue also a strong purple blue. The greens are bottle into sage, and instead of army russet the browns are seal browns into soft rose and bois de rose. There are bluish grays that give the feeling of mixture but the trick is done in the weaving. There is a true gold that will be stunning with black fur trim or the black fur coat.

You can see that these colors are truly Victorian and Edwardian. Of course these lovely hues call for fur treatments and the accent with these colors will be black. Black fox is in character and so is seal with black shoes and bags. Nutria will also be effectively used.

Get ready for a short fur-lined coat in beautiful soft muted colors for the fabric that can be worn night or day. Look out too, for little Victorian muffs, mitts and velvet hats with flower arrangements in the best Victorian tradition. And here's news that will bring you comfort, according to post-war predictions shoes will be made of soft, flexible, and pliable kidskin. Women want shoes that fit like gloves and postwar shoes will have to be both smart and comfy. Kid will have all these answers.

Corduroy Pinafore

This little girl is on her way to learning the three R's. For day-long play and school activities, mother has chosen corduroy Hansel-and-Gretel outfits for little brother and sister. We are going to tell you about little brother's outfit even if he isn't pictured here. He sports a longie suit in cordurex (male version of the same corduroy that sister wears). It is tailored to perfection. Tweed sleeves and collar give a new look and masculine air. Little sister, as you see, wears a pinafore in blue cordurella, the modern lightweight corduroy that washes and wears. The braid trim in bright peasant colors is a touch of distinction.

Styles Notes

Fuchsia tones continue to top the color list.
Gray fur in promise for fall are new and young.
Dress-up look rather than casual is fashion's new trend.
Heather tones are coming in and they are lovely.
The swing is to colorful gabardine for first fall suits.
Bustle-bow dresses are shown in the new collections.
Most of the new dresses are styled either with peplums or swathed hips.
Stunning belts, buttons and monograms dress up simple wools and crepes.
Favorite coat for midseason and early fall is the simple mandarin top of gay wool.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Did you hear that Tom is going to be inducted into the Army next week, Judge?"

"Yes, Frank told me this morning down at the barber shop. Our town's got a lot of men in the service now, Jim. In fact, all towns have. I was just reading in the paper where there are more than 10,000,000 men away from their homes in the armed forces. And, from all reports, they're doing a grand job bringing victory closer every day."

"We folks at home have a mighty big obligation to those 10,000,000 fighting men. We've got to produce the food to keep them well fed. We've got to keep them supplied with the ammunition and equipment they need to finish their job. We've got to help the Government pay for all these supplies our men need by buying more and more War Bonds. We'll have another big chance to do that by helping to put the next War Loan drive over the top, Jim."

"And, in addition, we must be sure that while they're away and can't express their opinions, we don't go voting on and deciding any things that will displease them when they come back."
